REPORT

Because of the District middle school boundary adjustments slated for the 2018-19 school year, the middle school principals and district administration believed that it was timely and appropriate to review and align middle school programming and opportunities throughout the district.

This evening, Assistant Superintendent Mike Johnson and our four middle school principals (Elise Block, Joni Hagebock, Kari Lopez, and Molly Roeske) wish to share the progress and results of this alignment to better inform the Board, general public, and especially, the families of students who will be attending different middle schools. Our goals are educational equity and consistent educational opportunities at the middle level for over 4300 students.

The panel of presenters will share enrollment shift demographics, our course alignment progress, master scheduling information, course offerings, and detail on our transition events for students who are shifting to new middle schools for 2018-19.
